1.4.291
a Lesson in the University of The New Covenant
Theodore Cottingham, September 17, 2006 8pm. London
www.unc.bz

1. Who can see the clock time, mine?
2. What is the standard for infinity?
3. What is the whoso can love me infinity'd?
4. What shall they say when I surrender them, to them, my all?
5. I love you then, I love you now, I love London, you in it, and what's about to happen to my all-lovely, lovely-ing my all who will let us/him. I love you all.

6. Think not of another but me, my lovely, my kingdom, my one in a million, not; but my one that one is that you consists of; in pairs, not; but masses of individual cells, not; but one brain in a million, not; but one heart consisting/consisteth of; mine. My heart/mind, my lungs, my inhalation exercises, not; but theirs not either, no longer. I love you.

7. This is the remainder of me, not; house of Zion established and healthy/free and whoso can see my kingdom incarcerated not but freed freeing others forever'd? I love you all. Think not of the moment but see/seeing me and me see and what now therefore/wherefore seest thou in me? My beloved whoso king is making kings, not; but revealing them far, and priests, as one. I love you all. King-priests are. I love you. My New Covenant ones now in my/your blood knowing mine is different not but ours the same is, was, has been always, not; yea yes and forevermore backwards and future'd. I love you all.

8. Who can see the fake facades of not-me in me that were me, that are me, but not my heart and forsaking all others haven't, didn't, and out for their own gain still, masquerading in my palaces as me?

9. Forsake me not as I teach inwardly, outwardly, revealing much that not me is.

10. Forsake not my brethren who need me/you and what wherefore you have to take them, having to, not; getting to. My privilege given and obtained not by mercy, surrender; the mercy obtains, not; but mercy arrives simultaneously. I love you. I am you/me. We are one and all the world beholds the surrendered now one. I love you all.

Me.